SYRPH

Summary of SYRPH (System for Reducing Protest Hearings)

SYRPH is a prehearing process where each skipper involved reviews the protest form and any Observer report of the incident. There is no discussion. After a few minutes, the SYRPH administrator asks each skipper to place a coin on the table – covered up by their hand, heads up (I want to go a Protest Hearing) or tails up (I will retire). The Admin then asks the skippers simultaneously, to reveal their coin. If more than one coin is heads up, a protest hearing will be held and time and location announced. If a skipper elects to go to a hearing, they will not be able to retire and may face a DSQ.
